

Joe Jackson

By A. M. Corrigan.

Red McGhee says:

Where Carolina's rough an' wild there used to be a husky child some fifteen years ago, who played ball with the mountain boys. He always was the one big noise. They called him Dixie Joe. The years ain't hushed his noise a bit. They're like a sounding board for it—it's louder every year. Joe keeps on pullin' up safe-raps although his team, the luckless Naps, have pulled up in the rear. Joe ain't got any pretty lines. He don't run much to grace. But when he grabs his big, black stick an' bangs that ol' Reach ball a lick the outfield stars a race. Joe's running ain't a handsome sight but then it's got the speed all right as all the catchers know. He's some wildcat around the sacks, hook-sliding 'round the basemen's backs an' beatin' out the throw.

He fields some, too—has one swell whop. But battin' he's earned ol' Joe his grip on all the million fans. On those old, ol' Polo grounds one day he hit one that just flew away across the two-deck stand. They claim it was the longest swat that ever left that classy lot where Baker won his fame. His team may stand on last place sholes, but Dixie Joe gets out and poles .500 just the same.

the team, and unless the Wolves take a sudden and unexpected brace, Portland will clean up on the series this week and clear the path for the pennant.

Pep Young and Doc Cook were the only Sacramentoans to do any noteworthy sticking during the last series, while the Seals had a merry round of swatting, the club batting average for the seven games being .315. Del Howard, as pinch hitter, raised his batting average a few pegs.

Howard says he expects the Seals to walk right to the pennant from now on. Baum looks like the Seals' best bet at the stage. He had the Senators helpless in the two full games he pitched and on Saturday he went on the mound in the tenth inning as relief pitcher and emerged a winner.

Oakland Nosed Out.

San Francisco, Aug. 10.—Oakland nosed out Los Angeles in last week's series, the count standing 4 to 3. Tyler Christian has his men playing at their best now, and the team may be expected to give the leaders a lot of trouble until the season closes.

Big Harry Ables has returned to form, and when he is right he is one of the best left-handers in the league. He will take his regular turn in the box from now on. Ables won yesterday morning's game from the Angels 5 to 1. He allowed seven hits, but kept them scattered. Los Angeles took the afternoon game, 10 to 7.

Manager Dillon said the Angels suffered a slump here, and attributed it to the cool weather. He said the players would return to their true form when they returned to Los Angeles for this week's series with Venice.

DEFEAT WITHOUT DISHONOR.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 10.—Defeat without dishonor—that is the portending of the Venice Tigers today after last week's series with the Portland club. The Beavers maintained their position at the top of the Coast league column, but only by virtue of a 4 to 3 game tally for the series, and every game was a battle. Altogether, the series was the best of the season to date, and Los Angeles fans are well satisfied that the Tigers broke as well as they did.

Roy Hitt and Cack Henley were the pitching heroes from a Venice standpoint. Henley pitched masterly ball against the visitors Saturday, and Hitt saved the final game yesterday afternoon by shutting them out.

Two games went into extra innings, the Beavers taking both by pinch hitting. Lohoy and Kays were the Beaver club heroes of the week.

Civil war will break out here tomorrow when the Tigers and the Angels start a seven-game series.

TOOK CHANCES WITH DEATH AND WON OUT

Portland 13-year-old Boy at Risk of Life Rescues Drowning Man From Ocean at Seaside Sunday.

Seaside, Wash., Aug. 10.—One of the finest pieces of individual heroism ever witnessed on North Beach was enacted here yesterday, when Ernest O'Brien, 13-year-old son of Harvey Wells Abbott, also of Portland, from drowning in the Pacific ocean. Abbott swam out beyond the breakers and was unable to return.

Ernest O'Brien was riding his pony, Dixie, along the beach when he saw Abbott making a desperate struggle far out in the breakers. He lashed the cayuse into the foaming surf, out among the combers and beyond the bathers who were afraid to venture the rescue.

When Dixie refused to go further into the treacherous undertow, young O'Brien threw himself over its head and swam to where Abbott had gone down. He found the unconscious man being steadily seaward, secured a grip on his bathing suit and in a few minutes hauled the unconscious bather to shore.

As soon as he landed Ernest left those on the beach to carry the apparently dead man to the nearby cottage of Mrs. T. C. Elliott, of Walla Walla, while he galloped to the cottage of Dr. R. J. Marsh, of Portland. Dr. Marsh raced to the Elliott cottage, and after an hour's hard work, with hypodermics and restoratives, Abbott regained consciousness.

Mr. Abbott is Northwest general agent for the Continental Life Insurance company, of Salt Lake City, and lives at the Hotel Benson. Young O'Brien, who attends the Ladd school, lives with his parents at 208 Sixteenth street.

When the Potter train pulled out to-night, the 13-year-old hero, who had faced almost certain death taking a chance which a score of experienced swimmers refused, was shouldered by the crowd.

NORWAY AND SWEDEN MAY AGAIN UNITE

Christiania, Aug. 10.—The exchange between Norway and Sweden, in connection with the situation of what were spoken of as "obligatory assurances," were regarded here today as the first step toward a reunion of the two countries.

"The assurances" bound the two governments only to refrain from hostilities with one another but they considered preliminary to a defensive alliance. It was thought the expected combination would be rather in the nature of a federation than a merging of governments.

Denmark, many believed, would join the group.

CEREAL MARKETS ALL SHOW SHARP ADVANCE

Chicago, Aug. 10.—New high price levels were reached today in the wheat pit here. During a scramble to buy, wheat jumped 3-4 cents. September touched 97 3/4, December 1.03 1/8 and May $1.11.

The bulge did not equal the conditions which prevailed at the outset of the war. Today's advance was steady. Corn broke sharply as a result of rains in the corn belt, but rebounded later.

IRISH VOLUNTEERS TO REPLACE REGULARS

London, Aug. 10.—Premier Asquith denied in the commons that the government was preparing to replace the regulars, that the latter may be used on the continent.

Instead, he said, the regulars would be replaced by Irish volunteers, "in whom the government has full confidence."

War Minister Lord Kitchener, he added, was assisting in organizing the Irish volunteers.

President Roumieu, of the board of trade, a cabinet department, told the house that the board was considering the release for use by manufacturers, of all German patents registered in Great Britain.

The result of such a step, it was stated, would be an enormous loss to German manufacturers.

MARSHFIELD INVADED BY DESERT BEDOUINS

Marshfield, Ore., Aug. 10.—Shriners arrived steadily Saturday and Sunday by automobile from Grants Pass, Ashland, Roseburg, Eugene and other interior points for the three days' initiation and jinks. The ceremonies take place Tuesday afternoon and evening, when 25 candidates will walk the hot sands. A big street parade is one of the coming attractions.

The visitors will be entertained with dances, receptions and a fish dinner at Sunset Bay on Wednesday. The celebration will end with an informal gathering at the Masonic temple on Wednesday night.

GERMANS HOLD CITY, BELGIANS THE FORTS

Germans Will Lay Siege to Forts—Belgians Claim Object Attained in Delaying Germans Till French Arrive

(By United Press staff correspondent.)

Brussels, Aug. 10.—Though German troops were in occupation of the city of Liege today, some at least of the Liege forts—all it was asserted here—were still held by the Belgians.

It was expected a strong German force would settle down to a siege of these defenses, which, under the changed circumstances, it was evident, would have to make an independent instead of a joint future resistance, while the main Teutonic body moves southward.

According to the war office here, the Belgian garrison of the city of Liege retreated to Namur for strategic reasons.

General Von Emmich, the German commander, was understood to have established headquarters in the Liege city hall, whence he announced that if Belgian civilians engage in further fighting against the kaiser's soldiers they will be shot and their homes burned.

Residents Have Fled.

Most of the residents of the city had fled.

Communication with the city from here was interrupted and despite the war office's assertion, there were rumors that some of the forts had fallen into German hands.

The position of the main Belgian army was not revealed.

It was certain that an enormous German force was being concentrated on Belgian soil.

Germans were thick in the country south of the Dutch province of Limburg, and fighting was reported in the Geer valley, north of Liege. Their cavalry was also reported active about Huy and Dinant.

Dinant is beyond Namur, where the next big battle is expected. It was believed, however, that this cavalry was only a small scouting body, which presumably had slipped through the Belgian lines. Another theory was that it was a detachment from the German army operating in Luxembourg.

Attained Their Object.

The loss of Liege city did not seem to have discouraged the war office officials here. They said they had not expected even the forts would hold out indefinitely, the Belgians' purpose being accomplished if they delay the invaders long enough to let a sufficient force of French to arrive for a decisive battle.

In this they had been successful. Not only French but English troops were said to have joined the Belgians near Namur and more French were pushing eastward across the frontier in large numbers.

Cavalry skirmishing between French and Germans south of the Meuse was already reported.

It was generally believed here that it will be several days before the Germans would resume the offensive on an extensive scale.

TYPOGRAPHERS HAVE SIXTIETH CONVENTION

Providence, Aug. 10.—Infantry Hall was filled to capacity today when Frank A. Livingston, chairman of the local committee, called to order the sixtieth annual convention of the International Typographical Union. State, municipal and civic representatives made addresses of welcome which were answered by President Duncan in behalf of the union. President Duncan touched upon the growth and prosperity of the organization, its educational and welfare features, the peaceful relations existing between employer and employee through arbitration and contractual negotiations, and the general spirit of uplift that prevailed in the 700 unions with their 60,000 members.

The financial showing dealt in large figures—$618,354.35 in the old age pension fund, $158,559.33 in the mortuary fund, and $176,710.65 in the general fund—with a total close to $1,000,000. The Union Printer's Home at Colorado Springs is set down at an additional $1,000,000. It costs about $100,000 a year to maintain the home. The average earning per member, according to today's report, is $1,042 a year; average death age 48.7, and the death rate 12 per 1000. These last figures, it was explained, are the result of an active campaign for better sanitary conditions in composing rooms and the shortening of the work day.

Los Angeles and Washington, D. C., the first thing today opened the fight to secure the 1915 convention. Washington wants the convention when the city celebrates its 100th birthday anniversary. Los Angeles wants the 1915 event because it has never had an I. T. U. convention and because it believes that the Panama-Pacific exposition next year would be the biggest side attraction any city could offer the delegates. Each city had a big delegation of boosters on hand today. Both have headquarters at the Narragansett. At 12:30 the convention adjourned until Wednesday morning.
